

Dr. Stacie Ray

Dr. Ray has a clear passion for the field of audiology, largely due to her personal experience of raising a child with profound hearing loss. She is a licensed audiologist in the state of Nebraska and holds the Certificate of Clinical Competency through the American Speech-Language and Hearing Association (ASHA). She manages the Hearing Aid Clinic and teaches in the audiology program at the Barkley Memorial Center. Dr. Ray also is the administrator of the Sertoma and Lions Hearing Aid Banks. Her commitment to ensure children have accessibility to amplification, led her to establish the Nebraska Children's Hearing Aid Bank in 2007 and HearU Nebraska in 2011.
