

The Adventures of Squirrel, Badger, and Porcupine

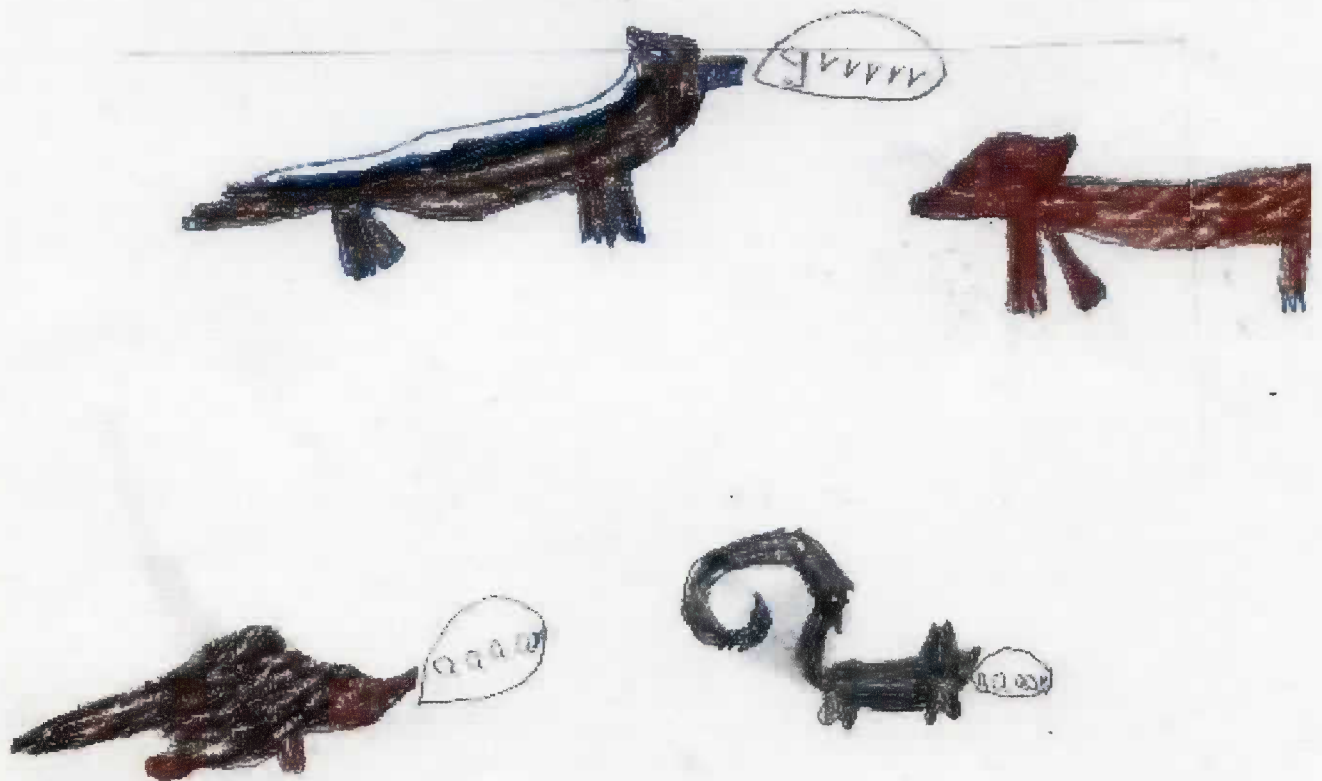

Written and Illustrated By: Hannah Kolarik

Squirrel, Badger, and Porcupine explore a cave. They find glow worms. The glow worms wriggle away because something big is coming. The big thing is Bear.

Fun Fact:
Glow worms produce
green light.

Bear asks nicely for the gang to get out of his cave. The gang does not listen. Bear asks for the gang to get out of his cave again. The gang still does not listen. Bear has had enough.

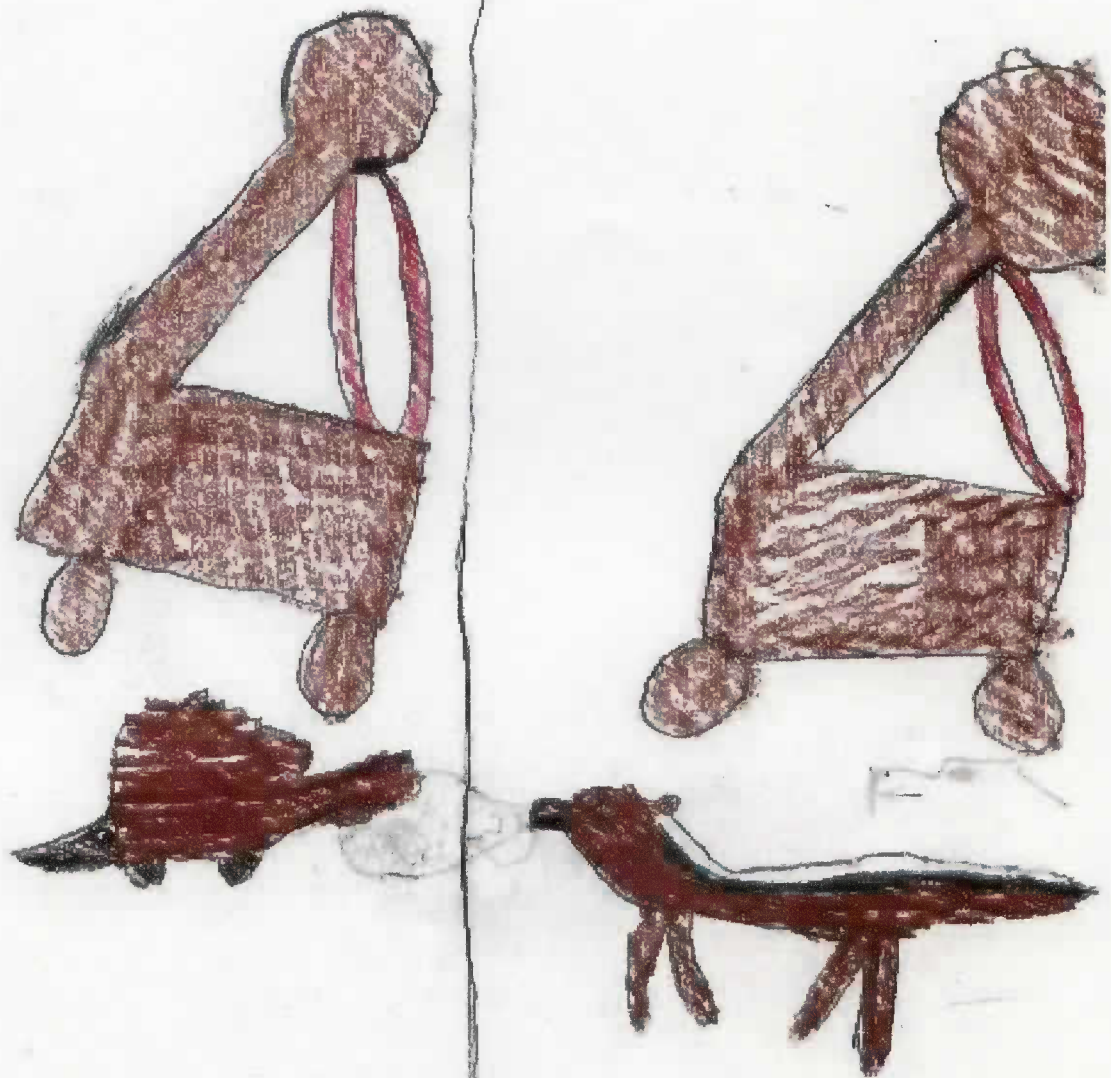

Bear chases them through the woods. Squirrel climbs a tree. Badger goes down a hole. Porcupine rolls into a ball.

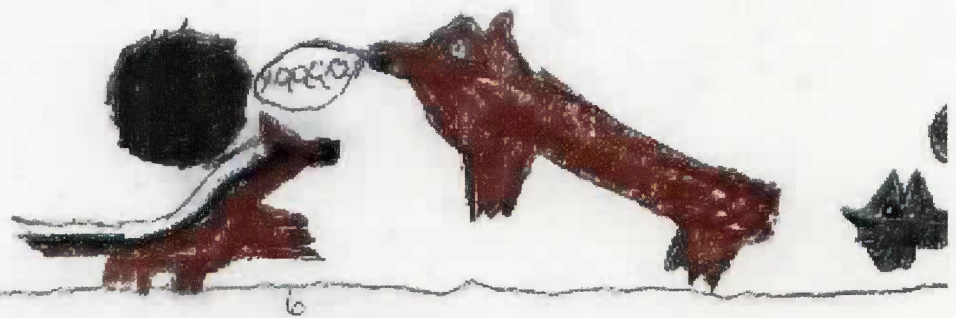

Bear climbs up the tree and grabs squirrel. While nobody is looking, bear climbs back down with squirrel and takes her to his cave. Badger and Porcupine look to see if it is safe and see that Squirrel is gone.

Badger decides to have Porcupine sling him at Bear so he can knock out Bear. But Porcupine wants to knock out Bear himself. They both make catapults and they try to save Squirrel by themselves.

But they cannot. Squirrel yells that they should work together. They hear her and work together. They both sling themselves at the bear and knock him out.

They untie Squirrel and the glow worms lead them back home.
